MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dear Members,

Since September 2024, when I took on executive leadership at the Museum (first as Board Chair, Interim Executive Director from September 2025, and permanently from May 2026), we have asked all of you to come together and believe in the Museum's future during a difficult time.

You did, and you continue to do so. Thank you.

It is a privilege to serve such a dynamic and diverse community, brought together by our love of textiles, one of the most universal of human arts.

What a joy it was to reopen our doors again in October 2025, made possible by more than $250,000 in special donations from members, supporters and funders across Canada. To celebrate our 50th anniversary year, we launched three new exhibitions celebrating our past in Made by Many, our present in Taking Shape, and our future in From Cloth to Code.

We have returned to the excellence the Museum is known for in collection research and access, exhibitions, and programming, earning recognition in the press and through industry award nominations. Our audited 2025–26 financial statements also show an operating surplus and a substantial reduction in our accumulated deficit, in line with our recovery plan.

Our staff, interns, and volunteers have done extraordinary work to achieve all of this, and I could not be more appreciative and proud of our team. Our Board has given countless hours to help steer us through, and our members, donors, and funders have supported us generously. Thank you.

Though our recovery is underway, challenges remain. We need more operating funding to strengthen staff capacity and manage rising costs as our building ages and faces climate change, at a time of economic uncertainty, when government and other funding is harder to secure. In the coming months, I look forward to sharing our plans to meet these challenges and sustain our progress.

With gratitude,
Urmi Desai

EXHIBITIONS

In October 2025, during our 50th anniversary year, the Textile Museum of Canada reopened its doors with three new exhibitions that looked to our past, our present, and our future. Together, they affirmed what has always defined the Museum: a collection built by many, and a commitment to making space for the artists and communities who shape it.

Made by Many: 50 Years of the Textile Museum of Canada celebrated the founders, builders, and communities behind our permanent collection, tracing the Museum's evolution from the present day back to its beginnings in the 1970s. Taking Shape: Recent Acquisitions presented works added to the collection between 2023 and 2025 on the recommendation of our communities, filling gaps in Indigenous textile practices, contemporary art and fashion from Turtle Island and beyond, and art that speaks to LGBTQ2S+ experiences. From Cloth to Code: New Media Responses invited nine Toronto-based artists to approach the collection as both catalyst and collaborator, translating textile heritage into interactive technologies, sound, 3-D printed sculpture, animation, neon, and projection.

In collaboration with York University, the Museum also hosted a community exhibition: The Biyuti Project: Queer and Trans Filipinx Youth in Catholic Education. This arts-based research project explored the experiences of queer and trans Filipinx youth as former Ontario Catholic school students through art production and storytelling.

Across the fiscal year, our exhibitions featured 84 collection objects, 38 artists and designers, and welcomed 5,277 visitors to the Museum, including 776 guests at our reopening reception. Despite our closure, the Museum had a touring exhibition reached a further 15,812 visitors. Each exhibition reflects our belief that a textile collection is a living archive, one that grows richer when communities help decide what it holds, and when contemporary artists are invited to respond to it.

Made by Many: 50 Years of the Textile Museum of Canada

Curated by Roxane Shaughnessy & Julia Brucculieri

October 30, 2025 - March 1, 2027

For over five decades, the Museum has developed a collection comprised of living objects, imbued with stories and knowledge of the diverse communities from which they originate. Made by Many: 50 Years of the Textile Museum of Canada is a celebration of this legacy – a legacy shaped by countless artists, objects, and communities. The exhibition unfolds across galleries that trace the Museum's evolution from the present day back to its beginnings in the 1970s.

Taking Shape: Recent Acquisitions

Curated by Julia Brucculieri
October 30, 2025 - August 2, 2026

This exhibition was generously funded by Partners in Art.

Acquisitions were supported by the Estate of Margaret Light

This exhibition features artworks added to the Museum's permanent collection between 2023 and 2025, acquired on the recommendation of our communities. They fill gaps in Indigenous textile practices, contemporary art and fashion from Turtle Island and beyond, and art that speaks to LGBTQ2S+ experiences.

From Cloth to Code: New Media Responses

Curated by Ignazio Nicastro

October 30, 2025 - February 1, 2026

Through the perspectives of nine Toronto-based artists, this exhibition reimagined textile heritage and practices using interactive technologies, sound installations, 3-D printed sculptures, animation, neon, and projections. Each artist approached the Museum's collection as both catalyst and collaborator, translating these literal threads of memory, identity, and material culture into digital form. With From Cloth to Code, the Museum embraces a new era of textile art, where the fabrics in our collection transform into digital responses.

COMMUNITY EXHIBITION

The Biyuti Project: Queer and Trans Filipinx Youth in Catholic Education

January 17, 2026 - January 31, 2026

In collaboration with York University, this arts-based research project explored the experiences of queer and trans Filipinx youth as former Ontario Catholic school students through art production and storytelling. The exhibition included mixed media installations and textile works created from deconstructed Catholic school uniforms, Filipino materiality, and fabrics from the Museum's Reuse Program.

EDUCATION

Education at the Museum has always been sustained by the community that engages and the textiles they use to learn from it. Our programs invite people of all ages and backgrounds to learn from artists and practitioners, to see our collection and exhibitions through new eyes, and to find connection with one another through shared craft. This year, 1,393 people took part in our programming.

Since reopening in October 2025, we have presented 90 public programs, welcomed 398 students and educators through school group visits, and engaged 730 participants in free community workshops. Hands-on workshops introduced participants to techniques including crochet, Tatreez, rag and mixed media weaving, machine sewing, needle felting, nålebinding, kumihimo braiding, basket coiling, and sock knitting. Curator tours, behind-the-scenes collection tours, artist talks, and panels connected audiences with the ideas and people behind our exhibitions, while programs such as the Contemporary Art Bus Tour, Stitching Resilience, and the Mending Station extended our work into conversation, community, and care.

Whether through a first stitch or a conversation with an artist, our programs open the collection to everyone and reinforce the Museum's role as a place to learn, gather, and create together.
